PRESIDENT’S MESSAGE

Congratulations members, you did it again! There was nothing but positive comments regarding our Orchid Show. Thank you to our Show Chair, Gwen Teragawa, who had the huge responsibility of coordinating this exciting and successful event. Nancy Nakama, display chair, and her volunteers did wonders with the display, “Nature’s Mystique”. Our vendors and crafts were responsible for the happy faces as visitors left with their purchases.

The set up, break down, cleaning, hauling and storing of props, and throwing out rubbish required a lot of man power. We are extremely grateful for those who volunteered and hope that we will be able to count on more volunteers for all future events.

For an added bonus Dennis Olivas from San Francisco volunteered to do Orchid 101. He will be our featured speaker for our GIOS general meeting on Friday, April 13.

What's in a Name?

Species Orchids—plants created by nature (not hybridized by man). There are two names associated with Species, the genus name and the species name. Sometimes there is a third name, the botanical variety. This covers a variation from the standard species, maybe a slightly different color.

Hybrid Orchids—orchids developed by crossing two species. There are more components in the name of a hybrid orchid. After the Genus and species, is the grex. The grex is NOT in latin. The 4th component of the name is the Cultivar which is a selection from the grex that makes it superior. The grex is in single quotes and you'll see many orchid names that have several or more cultivars. Lastly for the hybrid orchid names is the award designation. For example, the orchid may have been awarded a Highly Commended Certificate from the AOS, so it would end with HCC/AOS. Visit the AOS site for more information: www.aos.org

SPRING SHOW—2012

The Spring Fantasy Show “Nature’s Mystique” is over but it was a huge celebration of beautiful blooming orchids. The show started on Friday at 1:00 pm and there was a long line of folks waiting for the doors to open. As you entered the church hall, the orchids were laid out by type and color surrounding a mystical lush green forest with a waterfall.

Gwen Teragawa’s Dendrobium Super Ise nobile won the Best in Show. There were two American Orchid Society awards given both to Allen Yamada. A Highly Commendable Certificate (HCC) for the Dendrobium Jessica Yamada ‘Kauai’ and a Judges’ Commendation (JC) for Dendrobium anosmum x Den. gratiosissimum ‘Yamada’.

The pictures of all special and first place awards were photographed by Ada Koene or Ryan Metzger.

SCOTT MITAMURA — FEBRUARY MEETING

At the February general meeting, Scot Mitamura gave us lots of useful tips on how to prepare orchids for the Spring Show. He also pointed out that preparing them is not just for the show but for our own enjoyment and plant functions. If leaves are all over the place and sprawling or flopped down, they never get watered underneath. This becomes a dry area that is a haven for insects like mealy

Raffle winners

Three baskets filled with orchids were raffled off at the Spring Show. Top prize basket went to Jon Dux of Kekaha, 2nd place prize basket was won by Margie Merryman of Koloa, and Carol Hamamura grabbed the 3rd place basket. Congratulations and thank you for supporting the club!

bugs, scales, and spider mites. Always stake plants to keep the leaves together and up. This also gives us more space to grow.

More information will be included in the next newsletter from Scot's February presentation.
