PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

I take this opportunity to express deep appreciation and thanks to all those who participated in the recent GIOS Fall Show. The smooth transition from bare floor to a magnificent array of strategically placed orchids and props was a sight to behold. Our show is a great draw at the fair and I believe the public was not disappointed.

Cattleyas will be the topic for the general meeting. Presentation will be done by Gwen Teragawa and Allen Yamada.

See you at the meeting.

Carol Kanna, President

August Meeting—Dendrobiums

At the August GIOS meeting, we got the chance to learn about all kinds of Dendrobiums. Several of our members contributed to a slide presentation filled with information on the different kinds of Dendrobiums and how to take care of them. It was particularly interesting to hear about how the different members — living in different micro-climates — adjusted the care based on the climate. The presentation is available from the GIOS library. The presentation at the October meeting on Cattleya's will be in the same format.

Did you know?

The American Orchid Society (AOS) website has a wealth of information available to the public.

There is one section called "All About Orchids". The sub-categories are Orchid Basics, AOS Culture Sheets, Monthly Checklists, Orchids A to Z, Pests & Diseases, AOS Video Library and Additional Orchid Resources.

Culture Sheets—If you want to learn more about specific types of orchids, there are over 20 Culture Sheets available for viewing on-line or printing. They also have 13 of these available in 22 different languages including Chinese, Filipino, Japanese, Korean, Portuguese, and Thai.

Each of the culture sheets include information about the needs (light, temperatures, water, humidity, fertilizing, and potting) for the type of orchid.

AOS Video Library—There are "how to" videos for lots of things — like removing a keiki and when to repot.

Take some time to explore it!

FARM FAIR SHOW—2012

The Orchids in Paradise show was a hot one this year. The theme was a Japanese Tea Garden and the centerpiece was a beautiful kimono in a tea house surrounded by hanging Vandas.

Keith Do won the Best in Show and an American Orchid Society Highly Commendable Certificate (HCC) award for his Vanda Pat Delight 'Passion' / Vanda Fuch's Delight x Vanda Kasem Delight. Allen Yamada also won an American Orchid Society Certificate for Cultural Merit (CCM) for Dendrobium Maiden Charlotte.

Volunteers are critical

Bottom right is a view of the plant sales area. It is hopping with customers! Neill Sams and Mildred Konishi are in the fore front and other members can be seen—Evelyn Tsubakihara, Gwen Teragawa, Al Sugano and Ilka Priest.
